

TALIM EVENTS CALENDAR, NOV-DEC 2015

Saturday, November 7, 7 p.m. Discussion by Professor Karim Bejjit of Hassan II University, Casablanca, of his 2015 book, “English Colonial Texts on Tangier.” On the eve of Remembrance Sunday, Dr. Bejjit will discuss this collection of 18 Restoration pamphlets written about England’s venture in ruling Tangier in the 17th century. For more information on this book, please go to:

Monday, November 9, 7 p.m. Movie night, Preston Sturges's delightful screwball comedy The Lady Eve, with Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda.

Wednesday, November 18, 7:30 p.m. Concert featuring American singer-songwriter Socorra, in partnership with the American Language Center of Tangier. A colleague and friend describes Socorra, who was also a Peace Corps volunteer in Morocco, as “a bluesy-percussive singer/songwriter with a pop of folk. A throwback to Carole King, she enjoys writing music in which anyone can find the beat, their place in the song and clap along.” You can learn more about Socorra on her Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/socorracmusic>

Friday and Saturday, November 21–22 The Tangier-based Al Boughaz Association will host a colloquium at the Legation entitled, “Tangier: La Dimension Universelle d’un Espace de Convivialité Multiculturel.” This annual colloquium concentrates on historical preservation issues related to Tangier, and this year’s speakers list is impressive. Conference languages in the past have been Arabic, Spanish and French -- no English (with simultaneous interpretation). To register for the colloquium, please visit the following link:
